- Use ideas words from the box to help you.
- Try to ask follow-up questions.

Discussion Work with a partner, or in small groups. Ask follow-up questions.

- Where did you go on your last holiday?
- What was your best holiday? Why did you like it?
- Which do you like more: foreign or domestic holidays?
- Do you take photographs or make home videos when on holiday?
- Which places are popular in your country with foreign tourists?
Your Last Holiday: Teaching Notes

Target Structure: Past Simple for finished events
Vocabulary: Travel Collocations (British English)
Level: Elementary
Time: 45 minutes
Preparation: None

Suggested Teaching Method

This worksheet is aimed at very low-level students who need fluency practice. It’s a great way to get students speaking, and has the additional bonus of being a useful review of the Past Simple, and irregular verbs.

An American-English version of this worksheet is also available.

1. Give one worksheet to each student. Students should ask the lead-in with a partner. Elicit a couple of answers from the group. This should be brief: the main discussion questions are at the end.

2. This collocation / vocabulary exercise should be completed alone, and then checked in pairs. You can conduct additional oral practice of the Past Simple, if necessary. Drills work well: say a sentence in the present, and ask a student to repeat it, using the Past Simple. (e.g. 'I fly economy class.' ⇒ ‘I flew economy class.’ etc.)

3. Follow the instructions. Students should first read the conversation, and fill in the blanks with a word from the box. Students can check their answers in pairs, and practise the conversations together. Encourage the students to look up and make eye-contact with each other when speaking.

4. Elicit the first question from a confident student. Then allow students to work alone. When finished, have students check in pairs. Go through the answers with the group.

5. Students should not refer to #3 when completing this exercise. Students can work alone, and then check their answers against the original conversation.

6. Students can work in pairs for this exercise. For an added challenge, ask students to name the historical site shown in each picture. (See the answer key for more information.)

   Direct your students’ attention to the instructions and question box. If necessary, brainstorm some example questions.

   Demonstrate a conversation with a confident student. Emphasise that students can use their imagination – real knowledge of the locations shown isn’t necessary.

   Students can swap roles several times. Monitor, and go through errors at the end. Try not to correct during the role-plays.

7. Leave plenty of time for class discussion. To maximise student talking time, it’s best to put students in pairs, or small groups. Try to have students working with people they haven't spoken to in the other exercises.

   Students should read all the questions first, before beginning the discussion. Encourage eye contact and follow-up questions.

   While the students are speaking, monitor the conversations, but try not to interrupt. When the discussion comes to a close, ask a few of the questions yourself, and go through any points of English you made a note of while monitoring.

The answer key is on the next page.
